- Food, social and hygiene aid are part of the €3.16 million package for people at risk, which was distributed via Caritas, World Vision, CESAL, the Trussell Trust and other organizations in Spain, the United Kingdom, the United States, Chile and Portugal.
- Oxford University will receive €500,000 for a vaccine development project, in addition to the support received by Spain's National Centre for Biotechnology and by Baylor Medical College. A total of €900,000 have been allocated to research.
- The company is distributing 800,000 FFP2 masks, 90,000 diagnostic tests and 90 respirators to various health services in Spain and the UK (NHS). This item amounts to €3.160 million.

Madrid, 28/05/2020 – Ferrovial has approved a donation of €7.22 million from the “Ferrovial Together COVID-19” fund to institutions working to combat the pandemic in the social and healthcare dimensions and in research, in Spain, the United Kingdom, the United States, Chile and Portugal. That amount is the total distributed to date and includes the figure announced on 8 May.

The health crisis is having a major economic impact, especially on families that were already in a vulnerable situation. The effect of the pandemic has increased the number of people who are in this position and are experiencing greater difficulty in meeting basic needs such as food, hygiene products and medicine. Ferrovial has donated close to €3.165 million to prestigious institutions in this field. They include Caritas, CESAL and World Vision in Spain; the Trussell Trust in the UK; a number of food banks in the United States; Techo, in Chile; and the Portuguese Red Cross. This aid will reach around 90,000 people, enabling the distribution of 1,350,000 meals.

The company has allocated close to €3.16 million in the medical field to purchase 800,000 FFP2 masks, 90,000 diagnostic tests, 90 respirators, as well as other medical and personal protective equipment, which will be donated to Spanish regional governments, including Madrid, Valencia, Castilla-La Mancha, Andalusia, Catalonia, Cantabria and the Canary Islands. Part of this item will be allocated to other countries where the company operates, such as the United Kingdom, Chile and Portugal.

Ferrovial, which is making major efforts to combat the pandemic, is also supporting research to develop a vaccine for the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus, which is the cause of the COVID-19 pandemic. It has donated €500,000 to Oxford University, which is undertaking one of the most advanced projects to develop a vaccine. It also allocated €250,000 for two vaccine projects at Spain's National Centre for Biotechnology, which is part of the Spanish National Research Council (CSIC), and €150,000 to Baylor College of Medicine, in Texas, which is working to develop a vaccine that modifies the virus proteins.

Spain is the country that has received the largest share of funds to date (€4.8 million), followed by the United States (€1.15 million) and the United Kingdom (€1 million). Portugal has received €150,000, and Chile €110,000.

Ferrovial set up the “Ferrovial Together COVID-19” fund with an initial endowment of €5 million from the company. At the same time, it launched a drive to raise funds among employees, directors, shareholders, contractors, suppliers and anyone wishing to make a donation. The company will double any contributions up to a total contribution of €10 million. To date, the “Ferrovial Together COVID-19” fund has raised €8.690 million through contributions by Ferrovial and third parties.

When it announced the creation of the fund, Ferrovial undertook to be totally transparent in its decisions. In the coming weeks, Ferrovial will provide updates on how its Juntos COVID-19 fund is used.

A commitment to fighting COVID-19

The company is strongly committed to combating the pandemic, having participated in a number of initiatives, such as setting up a temporary hospital at the Madrid convention center, and developing the “CoronaMadrid” website and app, along with other companies, in partnership with the Madrid Regional Government, to facilitate patient diagnosis and monitoring so as to avoid saturating the healthcare facilities and reduce the numbers requiring emergency care. It also installed drive-in testing centers in the Balearic Islands. In Madrid and Santander, it has made 830 parking spaces available free of charge to healthcare workers.
